

BUILDING A BETTER COMMUNITY RESPONSE TO IPV: SUPPORTING PREGNANT & POSTPARTUM BIRTHING PEOPLE IN CONNECTICUT

Friday, June 23, 2023 | 8:30am - 2:30pm

Double Tree by Hilton | Bristol, CT

Cost: $70

(Includes breakfast, lunch, 5 CEU/CME pending approval)

LEARN MORE & REGISTER

The intersection of intimate partner violence (IPV) and maternal mortality among birthing people remains one of the least explored and under-resourced topics, yet is central to ensuring expectant and parenting people do not continue to die from preventable causes. This conference will feature individual and organizational level strategies that can be taken to advance health equity and increase positive health outcomes for birthing people who have experienced IPV.

This conference is aimed at perinatal providers of all types, adult and pediatric health professionals, social workers, early intervention providers, community providers, domestic violence advocates, and anyone working with pregnant and postpartum individuals.

Tabling opportunities available for attendees to showcase their work to help support pregnant and postpartum birthing people.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

LUCINDA CANTY, PHD, CNM, FACNM

Mother, nurse, midwife, researcher, nurse educator, historian, a reproductive health justice activist, artist, poet and founder of Lucinda's House

CASSANDRA AHO, CPM, CA

Manager of Program Innovation at the National Resource Center on Domestic Violence

FOR QUESTIONS OR MORE INFORMATION:

DEVON RAYMENT, MA, HEALTH PROFESSIONAL OUTREACH PROJECT MANAGER | DRAYMENT@CTCADV.ORG | 959.202.5069